

MARKET OVERVIEW: Faith-based organizations of every denomination are looking for ways to fully engage their constituents. Yours is probably no different. Whether it's the students in your religious education classrooms working on a project or the worshippers in your congregation who would like to incorporate color into the Sunday pamphlets. Reaching out to members of the congregation and offering services and support in times of joy or need can be challenging. Savin understands you are tasked with providing the latest in technology at a price your members can afford. But many times there are limited budgets and only one device for everyone to share, so your tools must be versatile and reliable. Whether you manage a small religious school or a large church organization, the Savin 9090 series with Savin's GlobalScan NX and/or DataWorks³ solution can help produce all of your documents and offers the latest in digital technology at a price that won't break your budget.

FAITH-BASED INSTITUTIONS

HOW THE SAVIN 9060/9070/9080/9090 CAN HELP:

Print Advantages

- With cost as a major concern and your operating expenses increasing, the 9090 series can print bulletins, newsletters, budget reports, membership directories and fund raising materials affordably and incorporate multi-folding without increasing costs.

- The 2,000-Sheet Booklet Finisher can help your church or organization produce customized wedding programs, holiday services, and hymn books for special events without sending these jobs out for printing.

Scan & Send/Fax Advantages

- Use Scan-to-Email to send letters or other communications from clergy to all members of the congregation in a single cost-free transmission.

- Broadcast faxing will enable your faith-based organization to reach out to the community more effectively with minimal time and effort for your staff.

Copy Advantages

- Your Sunday school classes or faith-based educational institution can create booklets using color inserts to gain and maintain the attention of your students with the creation of engaging materials describing their lessons.

- Volunteers, many with little technology training, keep your faith-based organization running. With the enlarged color LCD panel and clear instructions for ease-of-use, even casual users will be able to use these Savin 9090 series productively.

Document Storage Advantages

- The standard 160 GB Hard Disk Drive on the 9090 series allows your administrators/volunteers to save up to 45,000 pages, such as church programs, lesson plans and classroom handouts with digital quality, and reprint "new originals" each semester on demand.

- With the standard Hard Disk Drive found on the Savin 9090 series, administrators can securely store budget data, donation information, and membership records to guard against loss or falsification.

Software Solution Advantages

- Savin's Dataworks³ software provides a powerful tool for automating document creation, while embedding personalized information such as annual contributions, wedding announcements and/or other personalized messages into content.

- Creating personalized marketing materials, versus generic mailers, significantly improves response rates to help increase congregation enrollment. Dataworks³ incorporates a wizard-driven forms creator that makes variable data document creation easy, even for novice users.

- With its optional Mail component, Dataworks³ reduces postage costs and time involved with preparing/sending mailings.

- With Savin's GlobalScan NX, faith-based institutions can use Scan-to-Email functionality (scanning to e-mail addresses or distribution lists) to send letters or other communications from clergy to all members of the congregation in a single cost-free transmission.

- GlobalScan NX's enhanced integration with RightFax enables address book access at the MFP and "One-Touch" buttons for scanning to commonly used fax destinations. Users can scan communications and broadcast them to the community more effectively with minimal time and effort.
